WINES & PRICES
2018 / 2019

As Adam often says at the various tastings and dinners we do throughout the year, “without you we wouldn’t have the excuse to do this”. Any wine list therefore must start with a sincere thank you to you, the customer, for buying from us.

That so many of you have been kind enough to introduce us to your friends, relatives and colleagues is wonderful. Ours is a relationship business, forged on the buying and selling side, over a glass of wine (even better, a bottle). Long may this continue.

In last year’s introduction, Oliver mentioned the frost that had savaged Burgundy in late April 2016, this year sadly we have to report a similar occurrence, on almost exactly the same date, in Bordeaux in late April 2017. Such things remind us not to take each vintage for granted.

We would encourage you to peruse the list. At the same time as looking for the tried and trusted names and regions you may know well, do also venture outside of your comfort zone and explore the diversity of other regions and producers. This breadth is one of the things that makes wine so much more than just a great drink. The sales team will always be happy to help you in this.

We were most proud once again to win the En Primeur Wine Merchant of the Year award at the International Wine Challenge, demonstrating the strength of our range of fine wines from across the world.

We continue to grow and develop our range of Corney & Barrow own label wines. The aim here is not to “tick a box” for every region in order to simply grow sales, but rather to endorse a wine that we love and that we feel brings value and excellence under our own name. If we do not find a wine to do that, we will not have it in the range – we look for the opposite of bland (brand?) consistency.

This past year has seen our single biggest company investment in 15 years: a state-of-the-art operating system which has been four years in the planning. Its aim is simple: to make our back office functions even more efficient and robust, allowing us more time to devote to you. In addition, we look forward to announcing a new website in late Spring this year.

As we all head into a brave new world over the coming year, one thing will remain constant: our commitment to supply you with the finest wines at all price points and a service to match. Please let us know if you have any constructive ideas about how we can improve any aspect of our wine list or service – we would be very happy to hear from you.

With best wishes from us all at Corney & Barrow,

Will Hargrove
