WELCOME

...to the 2017 Burgundy vintage, a year in which growers' prayers were answered, when quantities finally returned to normal levels, after seven years of short crops. Oh, and a year in which the wines are pretty good too.

This is an overview of all of our Burgundy producers. Many of the wines are available to buy now, with prices listed in the pages that follow, while others will be released separately, as standalone offers, over the next four months.

VINTAGE OVERVIEW

The winter of 2016-17 was cool and sunny, with less rainfall than average. By the third week of March, buds were swollen throughout the Côte d'Or, heralding a rapid and early bud-break from 20th March, amid warm temperatures.

The first fortnight of April saw temperatures exceed 25°C, further hastening the development of the vines. However, the weather changed dramatically at mid-month, temperatures dipping below zero. The result was frost in Chablis on 18th and 19th April. Our Chablis producer Vincent Dampt saw the mercury drop to -5°C and lost 30% of his crop as a result, despite valiant efforts with oil heaters and candles in the vineyards.

Freezing temperatures visited the Côte d'Or on the nights of 27th and 29th April, although frost damage was avoided thanks to a remarkably coordinated effort, in which bales of hay were set alight by vignerons along the length of the Côte. The resulting haze of smoke prevented a repeat of 2016's frost damage, whereby the sun's rays had 'burnt' the frozen grapes as they lay encased in ice on the vine. (The local gendarmerie has warned against making a habit of this however – apparently billowing clouds of smoke are not conducive to safe driving on the nearby A6 autoroute – so growers may need a new trick in future...)

More clement weather returned in May and by month-end, leaves were unfurling and flowering was underway, lasting almost a week. June continued warm, with the first bunches achieving closure around the 20th, putting the season on a similar trajectory to 2009.

Some much-needed rain fell in July, alleviating the hydric stress that was beginning to tighten its grip on some vines. In Beaujolais, two episodes of hail, on 10th and 30th July, severely impacted the harvest, resulting in overall losses of over two-thirds at Domaine Lafarge Vial. The first of these also struck the Mâconnais.

By mid-August, véraison (when black grapes acquire their colour, signalling the beginning of ripeness) was almost finished in the Côte d'Or, at which point temperatures decreased a notch, allowing for a smooth controlled descent into harvest during the final weeks of the season.

It is interesting to compare the harvest dates of our producers, whose wines we are offering in this release. First out of the blocks was Olivier Lamy, who started picking in Saint-Aubin on 25th August.

Next was Domaine Lafarge Vial's Côte de Brouilly down in Beaujolais, on 30th August, followed over the successive four days by Clos de Tart, Lafarge's Clos du Château des Ducs and Comte Georges de Vogüé. Over 100km to the north, Vincent Dampt started picking the week after, on 5th September. The first two weeks of September saw the bulk of the Côte picked, with Gilles Jourdan sneaking into the following week, beginning on the 18th.

Finally, after short Burgundy vintages since 2009, and just as we were beginning to search for a new concept of 'normal', volumes produced are back to the 'old normal' in the Côte d'Or. Chablis (30% lost) and Beaujolais (70% lost) are another story, and we commiserate once again with our growers in those regions. For the rest, we can't wait to get started with these 2017s. They are showing brilliantly already.

As for vinification, two trends stand out. Firstly, lightness of touch is the watch-word for tannin extraction in red wines, many producers seeming to favour pumping-over as their primary tool, with minimal punching-down, or pigeage. Levels of new oak are also on the wane, Olivier Lamy using 0-5% new oak in 2017 – bad news for barrel salesmen – although others, such as Henri Darnat and Gilbert Hammel of Domaine de Varoilles, are not averse to it.

Secondly, levels of so-called whole-bunch, or whole-cluster vinification for reds were relatively high in 2017. This gradual increase is a trend, perhaps led by Domaine de la Romanée-Conti, and now that the late Henri Mayer's avid avoidance of it subsides. For every proponent of whole-bunch handling among our producers (François Labet and Charles Lachaux), there is a counter-example (Frédéric Lafarge and, in 2017, Domaine de l'Arlet), with others navigating a middle course (Jacques Prieur's Nadine Gublin).

2017 looks set to be a good to very good year, in which it was key to have tempered the natural exuberance of the vines following the short crop in 2016. The whites have a particular verve and energy, not unlike 2014 or even 2010, whilst the reds have a sweet-fruited clarity and perfume which makes them a joy to taste young. We may end up drinking the reds from 2017 before those from 2015 and 2016, but this is by no means a quality assessment: there is ample ageing potential here and a lot of enjoyment for the years to come.

CHABLIS

Located some 100 miles north of the Côte d'Or, Chablis sits apart from the rest of Burgundy, separated from the Côte d'Or by the Morvan Mountains. Geologically it is closer to the Loire and Champagne – even the South Downs – than Burgundy proper.

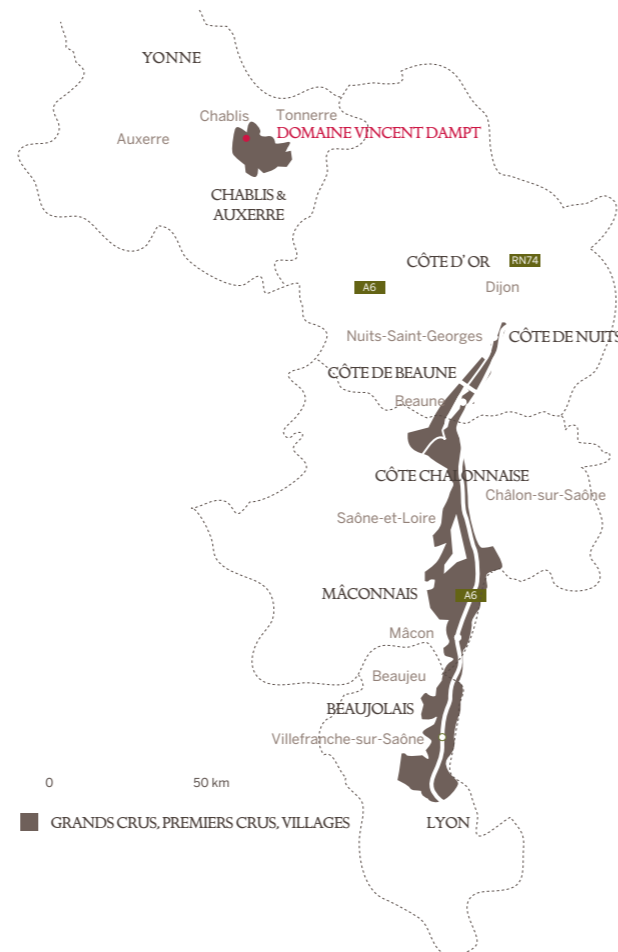

10

Historically, the region benefited from its proximity to Paris and being able to transport these popular wines by river to the capital. The advent of the railways had the opposite effect as more regions, with cheaper wines, became accessible.

Today, being so far north, the main adversary is the climate, yet it is in fact this marginal location, along with the famous fossil-rich soils, which lie at the heart of Chablis' quintessential flinty mineral style.

N

DOMAINE VINCENT DAMPT

DOMAINE VINCENT DAMPT

Vincent is now into his second decade making wine, these 2017s being his lucky thirteenth vintage.

We are, as ever, indebted to a customer who introduced us to the Dampt family and indeed grateful to have arrived just as Vincent Dampt was establishing his own domaine. We started with Vincent's first vintage under his own label – 2005. Previously, Vincent worked in both Puligny-Montrachet and New Zealand before returning to Chablis.

Vincent's vines are planted on Chablis' quintessential Kimmeridgian soils. These consist of calcareous clay, limestone and marlstone with many marine fossils. Many attribute Chablis' hallmark minerality to this link with the sea.

Until 2016, Vincent very much played the un-oaked, traditional Chablis card. Things changed in 2016 however, replicated in 2017, with a new wine in the form of the premier cru Côte de Léchet '350'. This name comes from 350 litre barrels in which the wine is aged. Half of the barrels come from the François Frères cooperage and half from Seguin Moreau. The use of oak is very well-judged, adding texture and finesse with no discernible oak spice.

The grand cru, Bougros is from the family domaine. This is fermented in old oak, once again as a complementary layer of complexity and texture, as befits the greater concentration of fruit and innate power.

11

There is no 'best' time to drink Vincent's wines: they hit the ground running but also repay cellaring brilliantly, with age becoming more silky in texture, with a caramelised, golden edge to the fruit.

THE 2017 VINTAGE AT DOMAINE VINCENT DAMPT

After the very small frost-affected crop of 2016, hopes were set on a normal harvest – only to be dashed once again towards the end of winter. Unlike the freak frost which had wiped out half the crop in one night in 2016, 2017 delivered ten days of angst, with temperatures as low as -5°C . The previous year's problems meant that many were better prepared in 2017 and the challenges were partially relieved by anti-frost measures – oil heaters and candles.

Once the frost risk had subsided, fortunes changed with the remaining winter weather keeping disease at bay. A warm July and August ensured the grapes matured well – although they lacked juice. Hail attacked Chablis at the end of July but largely missed the domaine. Harvest began on 5th September with the premiers crus. Although 2017 was easier than 2016, 30% was still lost in total.

CHABLIS 1ER CRU VAILLONS

Vaillons is known for its generous fruit, power and poise, due to its favourable south-eastern aspect as well as its Kimmeridgian soils. The vineyard lies southwest of Chablis, to the west of the Serein river. Vincent's parcel is particularly rich in clay, with vines averaging 35 years old, giving expressive wines. Pale white gold, this is rounded and opulent, rich and ripe, with a profusion of orchard fruit. Consummate balance, benchmark purity and a rather hedonistic depth... a great food wine, with very pretty, mineral precision. Long and layered on the floral finish.

CHABLIS 1ER CRU LES LYS

Les Lys is a small climat within Vaillons, where Vincent Dampt owns a small parcel of vines, planted nearly 60 years ago by his grandfather. The parcel faces north-east, towards the grands crus across the valley. Yields are very low and, with less afternoon sunlight, the grapes take longer to ripen. Refined and elegant, less forward than Vaillons, the 2017 is a shimmering pale gold in colour. The nose is intense, mineral and refined with characteristic Chablis steel embellished with hints of cream. The palate is taut and focused, brisk yet suggestive, with underlying richness tantalising below the surface.

CHABLIS 1ER CRU CÔTE DE LÉCHET

This is a special site, again on the western side of the Serein river, just above the village of Milly. With its 38% gradient and 40 year old vines, the yields here are very limited. Exposure to morning sunshine allows the vines to benefit from luminosity, rather than heat, making for heightened mineral precision. A glittering pale gold, this has a delectable nose - immediately appetising with orchard fruit refreshed by citrus notes and flint - all complemented by gentle floral notes reminiscent of wild blossom, although there is innate richness here too.

CHABLIS 1ER CRU CÔTE DE LÉCHET '350'

The fruit here comes from what Vincent deems the best vines of the cru - a vineyard planted in 1964 by his grandfather. Just as he separates Les Lys from the rest of Vaillons, of which it is part, Vincent recognises that there are certain site-specific attributes which ought to be acknowledged and celebrated. From these vines, Vincent produces two 350 litre barrels. The character of Côte de Léchet comes through, the floral notes and flinty, characterful precision, yet there is a complex balance between energy and breadth, concentration and depth. Orchard fruit, warm pastry notes and cream - all supremely controlled, very impressive.

£310/CASE OF 12 BOTTLES, IN BOND UK

CHABLIS GRAND CRU BOUGROS, MAISON DAMPT

Bright and pale, this clings to the glass - richly textured. It is intensely mineral-driven on the nose, flint and flowers and green apples to the fore, with a pastry shop, brioche backdrop. Rounded, opulent and expansive, this is perhaps the most Chablis-esque Bougros I have tasted, whereby flint, flowers and precision prevail within an otherwise rather exotic opulence. Spice and honey just peak over the parapet but the wine beneath is grounded, with a steely core. This warrants decanting and time in order to appreciate its development within the glass.

CÔTE DE NUITS

The Côte de Nuits forms the northern half of the Côte d'Or, running from the outskirts of Dijon, through seven famous communes, to the villages of Prémieux and Corgoloin, south of Nuits-Saint-Georges.

The region is around 20 kilometres long and between 200 and 800 metres wide. It covers 3,600 hectares. Driving south from Dijon, looking to the right, you will see slopes adorned with vineyards, broken up periodically by barren, rocky outcrops. Brilliant green in summer, intense gold in autumn and forebodingly barren in winter.

The Côte de Nuits, with few exceptions, is red wine country. It is, quite simply, home to some of the greatest Pinot Noirs in the world.

DOMAINE ROSSIGNOL-TRAPET

GEVREY-CHAMBERTIN

Gevrey-Chambertin is a large commune comprising 410 hectares, stretching from Brochon in the north, to Morey-Saint-Denis in the south. A mix of terroirs, with patches of limestone contributing to the complexity of the best Gevreys and to the great variety of styles. Only red wines may be labelled Gevrey-Chambertin.

DOMAINE DES VAROILLES

Domaine des Varoilles combines a number of spectacular vineyards from village to grand cru level. The arrival of Gilbert Hammel in 1990 marked a turning point for the domaine. Gilbert, of Swiss descent, has made Domaine des Varoilles a go-to producer of a succulent, rounded and supremely approachable style of Gevrey-Chambertin. The Varoilles holdings include two very special premiers crus monopoles, La Romanée and Clos des Varoilles.

THE 2017 VINTAGE AT DOMAINE DES VAROILLES

2017 saw some significant climatic contrasts. Cold weather persisted until March, following which the heat came suddenly at the beginning of April. There was a return of cold at the end of the month with three nights below zero. Frost was warded off by burning straw bales in the vineyards.

Warm dry weather returned in the latter part of April, with flowering occurring quickly and in good conditions. By mid-June, a beautiful harvest was on the cards. After a long period of drought during July and the first half of August, a few showers prompted a period of rapid ripening.

Harvest started at the domaine on 11th September, ending on 22nd September, in good conditions. Finally, a year in which quality met quantity, after seven years of small harvests. Fermentations were slow and steady, giving beautiful colours and elegant, silky tannins.

GEVREY-CHAMBERTIN CLOS DU MEIX DES OUCHES, MONOPOLE

This small parcel, just one hectare of 'village' wine, is a monopole – i.e. solely owned by the domaine. The soil here resembles 1er Cru Champonnet, its neighbour, from which it is separated by a narrow road. There is 10% new oak here, as usual. This has bright red berry fruit on the nose, leading into a juicily fruited palate of raspberry, with some dark peppery detailing. The tannins are ripe and nicely supple. Good wine, which will be approachable early.

GEVREY-CHAMBERTIN 1ER CRU CHAMPONNET

This is a 0.7 hectare plot which is even more stony than neighbouring Clos du Meix des Ouches. There is 15% new oak here. Sweetly, darkly fruited on the nose, with flinty mineral notes. The palate is beautifully supple, giving and expressive, albeit with great density and ageing potential.

Corney & Barrow Score 17+

“A year of very nice quality, comparable to 2015 and 2016... and with some more bottles!”

GILBERT HAMMEL, NOVEMBER 2018

GEVREY-CHAMBERTIN 1ER CRU LA ROMANÉE MONOPOLE

This, the highest of the domaine's vineyards, just above the Clos des Varoilles, comprises one hectare of vines, with an average age of over 60 years. The soil is very shallow here – just 50cm – over a gravel and limestone bedrock, naturally low-yielding. This has 20% new oak in 2017. A lovely deep ruby colour, with sweet, dark berries on the nose. The palate is sweetly fruited, with a broad, supple entry, fleshy and giving on the mid-palate, coming to a nice grippy point on the finish.

Corney & Barrow Score 17.5
Recommended drinking from 2022 – 2031
£350/CASE OF 6 BOTTLES, IN BOND UK

GEVREY-CHAMBERTIN 1ER CRU CLOS DES VAROILLES MONOPOLE

Just down the slope from La Romanée, this six hectare vineyard of 45-50 year old vines produces a more red-fruited, aromatic style of wine. Brilliantly bright ruby in the glass, this has a sweetly raspberry- and strawberry-fruited nose. The palate is fine on the entry, less fleshy than La Romanée but with an admirable purity and immediacy of fruit. Pas mal, says Gilbert... he is right.

CHARMES-CHAMBERTIN GRAND CRU

This is a single 0.8 hectare parcel, opposite Latricières-Chambertin, on a gentle slope. The grand cru patriarch of the domaine sees 50% new oak, from the Rousseau cooperage. Dark forest fruits on the nose, bitter cherry and Asian spices, again with this year's sweetly fruited signature. The palate is refreshingly light on its feet and driven by a really energetic core of acidity. Great drive and precision, complementing the assuredly poised blackberry and red cherry fruit.

STÉPHANE MAGNIEN

MOREY-SAINT-DENIS

After Vougeot, Morey-Saint-Denis is the smallest village of the Côte de Nuits, with just 150 hectares of vines. Perhaps less well known than its neighbours, Gevrey-Chambertin to the north and Chambolle-Musigny to the south, it displays some of the power of Gevrey, as well as a kinship with Bonnes-Mares, which starts just beyond the southern wall of Clos de Tart. The grands crus here are Clos des Lambrays, Clos de la Roche, Clos Saint-Denis and Clos de Tart. The abundance of walled vineyards echoes the self-contained nature of this alluring but enigmatic village.

DOMAINE STEPHANE MAGNIEN

Located in Morey Saint Denis, the domaine produces village and 1er cru wines in Morey Saint Denis and Chambolle Musigny as well as 2 grand cru wines, a Clos Saint Denis and a Charmes Chambertin. From the 4.5ha of own vineyard, Stéphane vinifies as well some Bourgogne Pinot Noir and a Passetoutgrain, with a good proportion of old clone Pinot Tordu. Stéphane is the 4th generation to run the domaine, fully biodynamic. It is a new exclusivity in Hong Kong & Singapore for Corney and Barrow and the wines will be released in a separate offer.

21

CLOS DE VOUGEOT

The Clos de Vougeot is a historically important 50 hectare plot, bestowed with grand cru status in its entirety. Beneath this rather broad-brush approach to classification lie nuances of quality, meaning here even more than elsewhere in Burgundy, 'grower is everything'.

CHAMBOLLE-MUSIGNY

As well-worn as the expression is, Chambolle-Musigny is the quintessential iron fist in a velvet glove. Perfumed and delicate on the nose, before making its presence felt on the palate, Chambolle at its best reconciles the ephemeral and the earthly.

Its two grands crus are Musigny and Bonnes-Mares, which are found at opposite ends of the village. The principal premier cru is Les Amoureuses, which lies on the other side of the Route des Grands Crus.

CHATEAU DE LA TOUR, CLOS DE VOUGEOT

LA ROMANÉE-CONTI VINEYARD

VOSNE-ROMANÉE

The most prestigious address in the Côte de Nuits? La Romanée-Conti is the bull's-eye of this charmed village, with a gaggle of grand cru vineyards clustered around it, including La Tâche, Les Gaudichots, La Grande Rue, La Romanée, Les Richebourgs and Romanée-Saint-Vivant. The adjacent commune of Flagey-Échezeaux houses the Échezeaux vineyards before giving way to Clos de Vougeot to the north.

DOMAINE MONGEARD MUGNERET

Vincent Mongeard runs the family estate in Vosne Romanee since 1995. He farms 30ha of vineyards with holdings spanning across the Cote d'Or. The historical plots are in Vosne Romanee and nearby, where he makes some Vosne village and 1er cru, a Clos de Vougeot, some Echezeaux, Grand Echezeaux and a Richebourg. This is the 3rd vintage that we release to the Hong Kong market and all the wines will be offered in a separate release.

25

ANNE AND VINCENT MONGEARD

DOMAINE GILLES JOURDAN

Gilles Jourdan established his eponymous domaine in 1998, having looked after the family holdings since 1970, whilst making wine at Bichot in Beaune.

The domaine's cellar is located in the quiet village of Corgoloin, on the eastern side of the Route Nationale. There are just five hectares, including a monopole, La Robignotte, which is a blue marl slope, adjacent to the small track which winds its way up into the Hautes-Côtes.

Gilles' chai is tiny. A central garage-like space is crammed with bottling equipment and a small tasting table, with a bottle cellar to one side and a barrel cellar to the other. Gilles has 40 pickers to call upon at harvest. He tends to harvest later than his neighbours, as demanded by his older, low production vines.

At the end of this year's tasting in October, Gilles opened a blind wine, which turned out to be a 1969 Côte de Nuits Villages! It had an astonishing purity of fruit, in the mature, mushrooms and truffles phase to be sure, but very much alive and kicking, just showing how long-lived these wines are.

GILLES JOURDAN

THE 2017 VINTAGE AT DOMAINE GILLES JOURDAN

Gilles was clearly pleased with his 2017s, which will be bookended by tiny volumes in both 2016 (frost) and 2018 (hail). In 2017, although some areas affected by the 2016 spring frost did not reach the expected yields, overall volumes were good. The harvest began on 18th September, using a team of 35 pickers. The grapes were very healthy, with optimal ripeness. The first of the 2017s were bottled on 7th September.

CÔTE DE NUITS-VILLAGES BLANC

This is a young vineyard – just over a decade old – planted mid-slope on limestone, with a little clay in the mix. A year in oak (just 8% new) gives a touch of richness, slightly toasted notes and an undertone of opulence. A nicely rich, ripe nose of broad stone-fruit, leading into a palate of juicy, almost-flamboyant ripe pear fruit, but with a salinity that directs the finish to a precise point.

Corney & Barrow Score 16.5+
Recommended drinking from 2020 – 2023
£225/CASE OF 12 BOTTLES, IN BOND UK

CÔTE DE NUITS-VILLAGES “SECRET DE FAMILLE”

The ‘family secret’ here is that this is made in the same style as that of Gilles’ father, using 18% new oak and 20% whole bunches. In 2017, it comes from just one of the three sites from which it is usually made. Strawberries and blackberries, with excellent ripeness. This is denser and grippier than usual – a serious wine, with a lovely balancing acidity.

BOURGOGNE CÔTE D’OR VIEILLES VIGNES

This is the first vintage that this wine has been made under the new Côte d’Or appellation. It is made from a 2.5 hectare parcel of around 70 year old vines and is 20% whole bunch vinified in 2017. Displaying excellent density for its level, this is substantial, with bright red berries and forest fruits alongside ripe, supple tannins. 10,000 bottles will be produced.

Corney & Barrow Score 17
Recommended drinking from 2019 – 2023+
£155/CASE OF 12 BOTTLES, IN BOND UK

CÔTE DE NUITS-VILLAGES LA ROBIGNOTTE MONOPOLE

Gilles Jourdan is the sole owner of this exceptional 0.96 hectare holding of blue marl. There are two parcels here, one being 70 years old, the other 40. Very happily (for next year’s offer, that is), this was one of the few parcels at the domaine which was not hit by the hail in 2018. Dark cherries and kirsch on the nose, leading into a palate of forest fruits. This is a longstanding C&B favourite and a wine which consistently punches above its level. 12% new oak.

CÔTE DE BEAUNE

The Côte de Beaune is almost twice the size of the Côte de Nuits, with around 6,000 hectares under vine. Whereas the Côte de Nuits is an elongated strip of east-facing slopes, the gradient rising steeply into the hills above, the Côte de Beaune has several side valleys, making it a broader shape on a map.

Travelling north to south, the Côte de Beaune makes a dramatic entrance just before the city of Beaune itself, in the shape of the iconic Hill of Corton. This southern region is the more rugged and picturesque half of the Côte d'Or. Whilst the Côte de Nuits encroaches on suburbia at its northern extreme and marble quarries in the south, the Côte de Beaune feels like proper countryside. The appellation covers both white and red wines.

BEAUNE

Beaune is a large appellation and, sharing its name with the Côte d'Or's main city, tends to confuse people. Add to that the nearby appellations of Savigny-lès-Beaune and Chorey-lès-Beaune (the 'lès' signifying 'close to') and you can see Beaune's unfortunate image problem.

Fortunately however, this means that there are still some relative bargains here. In the present offering, the Beaune wines of Domaine Lafarge should not be missed (see pages 53).

POMMARD

Pommard used to be the fashionable sibling of nearby Volnay, its clay soils making for a more corporeal, muscular style than Volnay's delicate, ephemeral wines. Changing tastes meant the tables have turned somewhat, but a handful of quality producers are making exciting wines. As a red wine enclave in white wine country, Pommard is underrated and well worth exploring.

CLOS DES EPENOTS

DOMAINE DU COMTE ARMAND

Domaine du Comte Armand had a line-up of prestigious winemakers in its history, to farm its Clos des Epeneaux, a walled 1er cru monopoly in Pommard of 5.3ha. Paul Zinetti follows after Benjamin Leroux and Pascal Marchand. The domaine is fully biodynamic and produces elegant and long lasting wines. In the last decade, the domaine purchased vineyards in Volnay and Auxey Duresses where Paul is making some of the finest representation of these appellations. We will release the wines later in the campaign, to Hong Kong and Singapore market. Domaine du Comte Armand is a new joint exclusivity for Corney & Barrow in these two markets.

MARC-EMMANUEL CYROT

DOMAINE CYROT-BUTHIAU

Marc-Emmanuel and Olivier Cyrot are the fourth winemaking generation of this family domaine. They own six hectares of vines across Pommard, Volnay, Santenay and Maranges. In admirable ecological fashion, the cellars of Domaine Cyrot-Buthiau are dug into the side of a rocky escarpment, under a vineyard in Pommard. The wines are made traditionally: harvested by hand, de-stemmed and cold-macerated before fermentation.

33

THE 2017 VINTAGE AT DOMAINE CYROT-BUTHIAU

Budburst was very early and the summer dry, making for excellent health in the vineyards.

Marc-Emmanuel enthused: "what a pleasure finally to see vines with grapes!" Understandable, after several low-yielding crops: hail in 2012, 2013 and 2014, a small harvest in 2015 and frost in 2016. The health of the bunches permitted an average of 15% of whole clusters for the villages wines and premiers crus.

Olivier Cyrot began the harvest on 8th September. Vinification was completed without problems, followed by one year's barrel-ageing, using an average of 20% new barrels. The wines were bottled at the end of 2018.

"2017 was the first big vintage in many years and it was important to keep control of the yield."

MARC-EMMANUEL CYROT, NOVEMBER 2018

MARANGES 1ER CRU LES CLOS ROUSSOTS

This holding was inherited from Marc-Emmanuel and Olivier's mother. This comes from just over the border with Santenay – indeed, this plot is split between the two appellations. Bitter cherries and kirsch on the nose. The palate is similarly cherried, with a touch of dark chocolate and firm tannins closing in on the finish.

SANTENAY 1ER CRU CLOS ROUSSEAU

This comes from vines planted in 1937 and is the continuation of the domaine's Maranges vineyard. Brightly red fruited, but also deeper and denser on the palate. There is a lovely succulence here, the best vintage of this I have tasted.

POMMARD

The domaine owns 3.5 hectares of Pommard in total. This village cuvée is a blend of 15 parcels on the Volnay side of Pommard. Very red fruited and aromatic on the nose, this is a crowd-pleaser. On the palate, there is enough muscly structure to speak of its origin, but this remains a particularly accessible, pliant style of Pommard.

POMMARD 1ER CRU LES ARVELETS

Les Arvelets is a 0.5 hectare south-facing sloping site of red clay, giving high ripeness levels, located adjacent to the domaine's cuvée. A dark, briny nose leads into a darkly-berried palate: fruits of the forest and crème de mûre. Lovely arching acidity works well against the powerful tannins. This manages to combine brawn and elegance, impressive.

VOLNAY

Silky, seductive, beguiling and ethereal. Volnay can be all of these things. Despite being surrounded by Chardonnay, this outpost of Pinot Noir has many parallels with the perfumed elegance of Chambolle-Musigny. A relatively small commune, Volnay lies between Pommard and Meursault. The vineyard slopes, facing east and south, descend steeply, before inclining more gently towards the road below. The soils are marls, with a bedrock of limestone.

DOMAINE MARQUIS D'ANGERVILLE

DOMAINE LAFARGE

HAND DESTEMMING THE GRAPES
FROM CLOS DU CHÂTEAU DES DUCS

Michel and Frédéric Lafarge are Domaine Lafarge's renowned father and son team. Michel worked with his father from 1949, with Frédéric starting in 1978. As of 2018, they have been joined by the next generation, Clothilde Lafarge, daughter of Frédéric and Chantal.

The domaine traces its history back to the early 19th century, the iconic Clos du Château des Ducs having been bought in 1900 by Michel Lafarge's father. The first wines bottled at the domaine in 1934 included Clos des Chênes, the domaine's largest Volnay premier cru holding and one of the village's flagships.

Red wines are 100% destemmed. Michel and Frédéric converted to biodynamic viticulture in 1996 and the domaine is now at the forefront of the movement. There is nothing showy here, as a visit to the mould-covered cellars will confirm. The wines are pure, age-worthy and yet quite beautifully delicate.

CLOTHILDE LAFARGE

THE 2017 VINTAGE AT DOMAINE LAFARGE

Beautiful spring temperatures in the first fortnight of April put the season on an early footing. The second half of April was colder, the last days of the month being icy. Frédéric Lafarge called the coordinated anti-frost effort a great success, whereby on 29th April, straw was burnt to create a mist of smoke along the Côte.

Clement weather resumed for the whole month of May. Flowering at the domaine went through quickly, in the first days of June, amid hot, dry and sunny weather. Light rainfall refreshed the vines at just the right time.

Harvest time came around quickly: 1st September for Clos du Château des Ducs and Pommard Pézerolles. The other wines were harvested from 5th September. The harvest was “normal” in quantity (which is to say much larger than in most recent years!) The grapes were perfectly formed and ripe.

“2017 is a very beautiful vintage, for both white and red wines. It combines purity and depth of fruit with the individuality of each terroir. A vintage full of promise.”

FRÉDÉRIC LAFARGE, NOVEMBER 2018

BOURGOGNE PASSETOUTGRAIN L'EXCEPTION

This is 50% Pinot Noir, 50% Gamay, inter-planted. The two varieties tend to reach maturity at the same time. These are very old vines – 89 years old. Bright red cherry on the nose, with ample acidity and some darker berries on the palate. There will be some magnums this year too.

BOURGOGNE PINOT NOIR

This wine is from four low-lying plots of vines between the village of Volnay and the road. The nose has excellent purity of raspberries, with some darker forest fruits. The palate is nicely weighted and comfortable in its own skin, with supple tannins guiding the fruit. Good.

BEAUNE 1ER CRU CLOS DES AIGROTS

The domaine has a plot of 45 year old vines in Aigrots. “A Beaune made in the image of Volnay”, I wrote last year, although this year it is spicier in personality and with nice dark, peppery fruit. The tannins are grippier than the Volnays, with expressive stony minerality.

BEAUNE 1ER CRU LES GRÈVES

Frédéric Lafarge has commented that Grèves is the greatest terroir in Beaune. The vines here were 96 years old in 2017, the oldest in the domaine but still perfectly healthy, having yielded 38hl/ha in 2017. They lie at the heart of this gravelly vineyard, a part of which was replanted in 2017, having been grubbed up in 2014. Lots of nuanced minerality and a dark, spicy character.

This is a 0.15 hectare plot, making one 350 litre barrel. Disarmingly brightly red-fruited on the nose, with delectable approachability and perfume. As Frédéric enthused during our tasting, Pézerolles is a particularly elegant style of Pommard, with a marked fruit-coating to the tannins.

VOLNAY 1ER CRU LES MITANS

For the first time, Mitans has 30% whole bunch treatment in 2017. In Frédéric Lafarge's words, "Mitans is the Volnay that we all imagine – finely perfumed, with power and tannic presence in the mouth". Much more aromatic on the nose, this veritably flies out of the glass at you – beautiful crushed rose petals. The palate is delicate on the entry, and indeed there is barely any sense of weight here. A magical, airborne Volnay.

VOLNAY 1ER CRU LES PITURES

0.17 hectares, making three barrels in 2017 – a "jolie récolte" (a "beautiful" harvest – both quality- and quantity-wise). The climat Pitures Dessus borders Pommard to the north east and Domaine Marquis d'Angerville's Clos des Ducs to the south west, perhaps explaining its firmer build. It has whiter (more chalky) soil, giving firm tannins. There is really good density here, with a sense of sucrosity. Its feet are on the ground, rather than soaring as some of its neighbours do, but it is excellent.

VOLNAY 1ER CRU CLOS DES CHÊNES

Always shown in tastings before Clos du Château des Ducs, but in many ways the quintessential wine of the domaine. Clos des Chênes is always the most forceful and assertive of the premiers crus. VOLNAY 1ER CRU CLOS DU CHÂTEAU DES DUCS

The vineyard behind the domaine. Hand destemmed again this year, by extended family and friends of the Lafarges. Horses were used to bring in the grapes from the Clos, following which the family held a harvest party to mark the vintage. Quiet on the nose when tasted, this seemed almost impenetrable. At this early stage, the quality is evident from the incredible finesse of the palate, whose filigree-fine tannins effortlessly guide the lithe red berry fruit. A wine of phenomenal drive and length, which is only going to get better.

GRAPES AT DOMAINE LAFARGE

MEURSAULT

The largest village of the Côte de Beaune, Meursault lies in the centre of the appellation, with Volnay to the north and Puligny-Montrachet to the south. Although we have come to expect volume and 'butteriness' from Meursault, there is in fact a lot of limestone in the soil and corresponding nervy tension in the wines. The best Meursaults need little makeup.

Meursault is primarily Chardonnay country but there are islands of Pinot Noir, notably Les Santenots, which sits on the boundary with Volnay and can be labelled Volnay-Santenots. As with Nuits-Saint-Georges, it is surprising that a village of this renown has no grands crus. Meursault has perhaps suffered historically by comparison with Puligny and Chassagne from not having 'Montrachet' appended to its name. Whatever the reason, it can be argued convincingly that the best Meursault premiers crus are of grand cru calibre.

DOMAINE PATRICK JAVILLIER

Another domaine in the process of a generational handover, the face of Domaine Patrick Javillier is increasingly Patrick's daughter Marion. Patrick, an engaging, quietly-spoken man, took over from his father in 1974. He expanded the domaine's holdings to today's ten hectares. Marion is now responsible for vinifying the red wines and for the commercial aspects of the domaine, whilst her brother-in-law Pierre-Emmanuel has made the whites alongside Patrick since 2011. 80% of the domaine's production is white wine and 20% red wine.

THE 2017 VINTAGE AT DOMAINE JAVILLIER

Smiling faces at Domaine Javillier, another estate whose run of short vintages finally seems to have come to an end. This aside, 2017 saw the first labellings using the new Bourgogne Côte d'Or appellation. The Javilliers' much loved Cuvée des Forgets and Cuvée Oligocène, which are unchanged in essence, are now called Bourgogne Côte d'Or Cuvée des Forgets and Bourgogne Côte d'Or Cuvée Oligocène.

"We are happy for this vintage – we have good quantity and good quality. There is a very good notion of terroir this year, with more purity than in 2016."

MARION JAVILLIER

SAVIGNY-LÈS-BEAUNE 1ER CRU LES SERPENTIERES

Serpentière is located at the beginning of the village of Savigny as you approach it from Beaune. The lieu-dit is rather unique in that it contains the village's cemetery. There is more limestone than clay here, underscoring the tension of this wine. Excellent intensity on the nose: bright red cherries and a spicy edge. BOURGOGNE CÔTE D'OR CUVÉE DES FORGETS

Named after the Rue des Forges, where the domaine is based, this comes from three parcels on the Volnay side of Meursault, on clay-rich soil which delivers density. An intense nose, of bright stone-fruit, leading into a palate which fizzes with energy, green melons, green apples and lemon sherbet. This is named after the Oligocène geological epoch, from which these limestone-rich plots date. The vines are on the Puligny (southern) side of the village, sited below Meursault 1er Cru Les Charmes Dessous. Fine and delicately floral on the nose, this is much tauter and with a greater stony mineral cohesiveness, coming to a beautiful point on the finish. This will be a great value pick.

MEURSAULT LES TILLET'S

Les Tillets is a large vineyard, high on the slope, south-west of the village. The soils are very poor here. Quiet on the nose, biding its time... The palate is saline and wonderfully minerally from the off, holding the green citrus fruit in a precise, streamlined shape, driving through to a long finish. 30% new oak is used here – “supporting the wine”, in Marion Javillier's words.

MEURSAULT LES CLOUSOTS

This comes from two sites: the deep clay soils of Les Clous and the limestone-rich Crotots. The latter, south of the village, is just beneath 1er Cru Les Poruzots. The nose here is much more expressive, with strident white peach. The palate is similarly open and powerful, resoundingly ripe green citrus and melon. Wonderful purity on the nose here, ripe white peach and flinty minerality. The palate is assertively ripe and densely fruited, almost chewable, but then the minerality of Casse-Tête ensures that it finishes steely and precise. No new oak here. Lovely wine.

DOMAINE MATROT

Adèle and Elsa Matrot are now at the helm of this family-owned estate, having taken over from their highly respected father Thierry Matrot, who had made the wines here for over three decades. Indeed, Thierry is still very much present at the domaine, lending evidence to the theory that Burgundian vignerons never actually retire... Be that as it may, 2017 is Adèle and Elsa's second vintage in charge.

The domaine has been totally organic since 2000, making both reds and whites. In recent vintages it has been hit particularly hard by hail and frost, which makes the more normal yields this year particularly gratifying here.

DOMAINE MATROT

THE 2017 VINTAGE AT DOMAINE MATROT

The vintage started early and was described by Adèle Matrot as “rather stressful”, due to early flowering and a high risk of frost at the end of March. Adèle pointed to the importance of the cool nights during the dry, hot spring and summer.

Because of the early start to the season and the drought, picking was early. The domaine started with Meursault Perrières, Meursault Charmes and Puligny Combettes, on 29th August, before the rains at the end of August arrived.

Adèle describes 2017 as solaire (ripe, with fruit presence), but without heaviness. The whites have a pervasive freshness and good ageing potential. The reds, similarly, are sur le fruit, open and accessible, yet with the structure to mature in bottle.

The yields were lower for whites than for reds here in 2017. Elsa described 2017 as a “really juicy vintage”. The reds were bottled the week before our tasting in November. The whites were partly bottled in August and partly in November.

The red wine musts are kept at 10°C to begin with, following which they gradually warm up, with fermentation starting around three days after. Extraction consists of pumping-over only, with no punching-down. Levels of new oak are 20% for the premiers crus and 10% for the villages wines. The reds were racked after the 2018 harvest, then left in tank for two months before bottling, after a light filtration.

BOURGOGNE CHARDONNAY

This was picked at the end of August and bottled in July 2018. Bright and crunchily fruited, it has a gratifyingly rounded palate of stone-fruit, a touch of pastry and some green melon ripeness. Pithy lime and lemon lingers on the finish.

PULIGNY-MONTRACHET

Perhaps the pinnacle of white Burgundy, the name Puligny-Montrachet is both universally recognised and a stamp of quality. Laser-like, linear, precise, steely, floral – these are the adjectives we hope to write when we taste the wines of Puligny. The village shares the Montrachet vineyard with its neighbour, Chassagne, entitling it to its cherished suffix. We work with three Puligny growers, who between them cover a broad spectrum of styles and sites.

DOMAINE FRANÇOIS CARILLON

François Carillon is the sixteenth generation of a winemaking family which traces its Burgundian roots back to 1520. Despite this rich heritage, the domaine in its current form was established in 2010, following the retirement of François' father Louis Carillon. François and his brother Jacques decided to go their separate ways, as is so often the case due to the Napoleonic succession laws which divide inherited estates between siblings.

Corney & Barrow is the exclusive UK agent of Domaine François Carillon. The 2017s will be released shortly.

FRANÇOIS CARILLON

OLIVIER LEFLAIVE

In the three decades since Maison Olivier Leflaive was established, this Burgundy house has quietly forged an impressive reputation. The standard, consistency and depth of Olivier Leflaive's offering are bound to the relationships with 100 or so small growers, from whom Olivier Leflaive sources grapes. These relationships lie in the hands of Franck Grux and Philippe Grillet, who run the vineyards and cellars.

For many years now, Olivier Leflaive has made special wines exclusively for Corney & Barrow from particular vineyards to which we – customers and staff alike – have become loyal over time. We commit to purchase early in the year in order to secure allocations, as well as preferential prices. This arrangement is testament to the long relationship between Corney & Barrow and Olivier Leflaive.

The 2017s were released in September 2018, as always the leaders of the pack by some distance. We still have stock of several wines however, so please speak to the sales team. Click here to see the offer

Since 2010, Olivier Leflaive makes 5 wines from his own vineyards, that used to be part of Domaine Leflaive. It includes 1er cru and grand cru wines of Puligny. They are sold separately, not en primeur, to Hong Kong market where Corney and Barrow is the appointed agent. Ask your sales representative directly for the details.
